

Eagles Class will begin new accreditations in English and Maths this coming half term. Our semi-formal learners, having completed their ASDAN Introduction modules in English and Maths, will now move on to the Progression modules; our formal learners will begin work on Ascentis Entry Level 2 in English and in Maths, and we are hopeful that they may even be able to attempt some exams this Summer. Work will continue towards our Life Skills and Work Skills qualifications as well, as we continue to look at horticulture and basic cooking techniques. We will continue to run our Teas in the Trees café for other classes as part of our Enterprise activities. Our Trinity Art Award lessons will now focus on designing and making clay sculptures of our own, having used this half-term to research the work of a Disney sculptor. We will continue with football for the Duke of Edinburgh awards, building towards seeing which member of our class can win a whole-class penalty shootout! Eagles will be welcoming another student to our class from 13th June and we will also be sadly waving goodbye to our Leavers. As well as a trip to the Isle of Wight at the start of term, our Leavers will also be helping to make a presentation about their time at Bedelsford, and attending their Prom.
